TO PREVENT THE SALE OF KNOCK-OUT DROPS.

The large number of cases of men brought to the West Thirtieth-st. station suffering from the effects of "knock-out" drops has led Police Captain Pickett to try to put a stop to the use of these drops by putting a stop to their sale. The drops are made principally from chloral, and act quickly, rendering the victim unconscious for a long time. Early this week Captain Pickett detailed a policeman to discover places where chloral was being sold without the usual precautions prescribed by law. On the evidence so obtained he went before Justice Summe, in the Jefferson Market Court, and secured a number of warrants, with which he yesterday arrested Hugo Lorenz, a drug clerk employed No. 140 Broadway, under Abney's Drugstore; Robert Brink, another, at Sixtieth- and Forty-first-st.; and Louis P. Wade, engineer to the Bank of Commerce.

It is contended by the police that lax methods on the part of certain druggists enable thugs who use knock-out drops to go on with their work. There is no thought of punishing the young men whose staffs secured them positions on the hospital staff were Jarvis, Sherman, Wight, Imlay, Benet, John L. Van Valkenberg, John M. Holt, Frank E. Todd, and Jacob Willard Farrow.

NORTON AND QUINN ACQUITTED.

A JURY DECIDES THAT THE ATLANTIC AVENUE RAILROAD COMPANY DID NOT VIOLATE THE TEN-HOUR LAW.

President Benjamin Norton and Superintendent Daniel J. Quinn of the Atlantic Avenue Railroad Company, were acquitted by a jury yesterday afternoon in Judge Moore's court on the charge of having violated the ten-hour law. Mr. Norton and Mr. Quinn testified Tuesday night that until the strike occurred the men always seemed satisfied with the timetables. If complaints had been made, they said, they would have been investigated. According to agreement the working time was ten hours, within twelve consecutive hours, exclusive of the time for meals and rest. All the men had agreed to this of their own free will.

Ex-Judge Morris summed up for his client, Superintendent Quinn, and Colonel Lamb followed him on behalf of Mr. Norton. Colonel Lamb said that the ten-hour law required that no officer of a railroad company should exceed more than ten hours' labor from an employee in twelve consecutive hours unless in the case of an accident or unavoidable delay. But the employer agreed to work twelve hours, he could not claim that amount was exacted from him. The employer had the right to make any agreement he saw fit with his men.

Assistant District-Attorney Maguire summed up for the prosecution. The jury went out at 2 o'clock and in forty minutes brought in a verdict of not guilty.

ON THE VERGE OF CONFESSION.

Last night Charles Fuhrmann and Robert Slater, two of the men who were arrested in connection with the murder early on Sunday morning of James Anderson, in Hackettstown, near Evergreen, were on the verge of breaking down, in the Baldwin police station, where they were locked up after having been arraigned in the Gates Avenue Court yesterday morning with the six others, including the dead man's two brothers, William and Joseph. When it became known that Anderson had had bad words in Murray's barroom, at Broadway and Macomber, on Saturday night, with two men who were under arrest, the two brothers became nervous, and Captain Dunn, of the Baldwin police, became considerate of the men.

When he was first arrested with Slater he assumed all air of bravado. When he was told of the circumstances of the murder, and yesterday he could scarcely stand the strain. The discharge of William and Joseph Anderson, with the four other men who were under arrest, was expected to-morrow. The defense lawyer, Captain Dunn, Assistant District Attorney Callahan and Justice Fuhrmann were arrested and held for trial in the Lee Avenue Police Court. Mrs. Smit said that the children deliberately ran in front of the car.
